

Wednesday, September 03, 2008

Canada Votes 2008

We have a unique opportunity in Canada to choose the people who represent us, and it looks as though we will be able to exercise that right in a National Election this fall.

Canadians for Moral Clarity would like to make sure that every believer in Canada is equipped with the information that they need to make an informed choice this October 14, 2008.

Our responsibility lies in choosing good stewards to represent the needs of socially conservative minded people in the government of this Nation.

We cannot afford to randomly cast our votes in Canada but need to make wise choices based on an effort to know the candidates and discovering their stands on various life issues.

Learn about the candidates in your riding- their character, values, integrity and where they stand.

When we carefully consider our vote, we act responsibly and fulfill a part of our mandate as a believer.

We understand that everyone has questions about the political process and CMC will try to answer some of those questions on our website as we prepare for the coming decision.

Lets take some time to make a difference.